Pickleball in Coos Bay, Oregon

Coos Bay pickleball is built around dependable indoor play, a practical advantage on a coast known for rain and wind. The William J. Sweet Memorial Tennis Center has long weekday blocks for adult games, while Southwestern Oregon Community College offers another indoor court option for students and registered community members. Both are close to the center of the Bay Area, so players can fit a session around work, errands, or a coastal visit.

Where to play

William J. Sweet Memorial Tennis Center, 3333 Walnut Avenue, hosts adult pickleball Monday through Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and again from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The morning block suits daytime players and retirees, while the evening block gives working players a consistent option. Admission is $8 per session, with 10 visit and 20 visit punch cards for regulars.

Southwestern Oregon Community College Student Recreation Center, on the Coos Campus at 1988 Newmark Avenue, includes an indoor pickleball court in a 39,000 square foot recreation facility. Students have access with current enrollment, and community members can register for facility use. Indoor pickleball equipment is available from the front desk with ID, which removes the need to travel with paddles and balls.

Pickleball lessons

A beginner can start with the scheduled adult sessions at the Sweet Memorial Tennis Center, where the long playing windows allow time to learn scoring, serving, and basic doubles movement without rushing through a single short reservation. The center also offers private instruction through its racquet sports program.

Players looking for dedicated pickleball instruction can browse our local pickleball coaches. A first lesson is most useful when it covers grip, a reliable serve and return, the non volley zone, and safe movement before adding advanced spin or shot selection.

Pickleball events

The recurring adult schedule at the Sweet Memorial Tennis Center is the backbone of organized local play. Sessions run Monday through Thursday in both morning and evening blocks, giving regulars a steady rhythm and newcomers several chances each week to meet the community.

Coos Bay does not need perfect weather to keep games going. Indoor facilities make casual sessions and small group play realistic throughout the year, especially during the wettest coastal months. The Sweet Center's punch cards are a good fit for residents who play often, while single session admission keeps the barrier low for occasional players.

Visitors

The Sweet Memorial Tennis Center is the most straightforward choice for a visitor because it publishes dedicated adult pickleball times and a single session price. The evening block is handy after a day exploring the coast, and the morning block leaves the afternoon open. Bring court shoes and a paddle; the $8 entry keeps a one time game simple.

SWOCC works well for registered community users who want access to a broader recreation facility. Equipment checkout with ID is especially useful for travelers packing light. Athletic shoes are required, lockers are available for day use, and only clear drinks in plastic bottles belong in activity areas.
